(In the space provided below, please explain in detail the reasons for the delay in filing a proper reply.)

In the event that this petition is denied, applicants contingently petition for revival under an unavoidable standard, and a contingent petition under 37 C.F.R. 1.137(b) is provided herewith.

The undersigned performed an investigation, which revealed that the Law Offices of Mark Levy, counsel of record, apparently received the Notice of Allowance in October, 2007 and promptly forwarded the Notice by mail to Binghamton University. The Administrative Assistant who reliably receives and scans the mail reviewed her records (see attached Declaration of Laura Riccuti), which indicate that the correspondence was not received by her office.

Therefore, the Notice was not responded to, and the application became unavoidably abandoned. A Notice of Abandonment dated February 4, 2008 was received by assignee on February 5, 2008, and this Petition to Revive was promptly prepared.

At no time did applicant or assignee intentionally abandon the application, and it is respectfully submitted that the failure to receive the Notice of Allowance by assignee after being mailed from counsel represents an unavoidable abandonment of the application. See MPEP 711.03(c):

"The word 'unavoidable' ... is applicable to ordinary human affairs, and requires no more or greater care or diligence than is generally used and observed by prudent and careful men in relation to their most important business. It permits them in the exercise of this care to rely upon the ordinary and trustworthy agencies of mail and telegraph, worthy and reliable employees, and such other means and instrumentalities as are usually employed in such important business. If unexpectedly, or through the unforeseen fault or imperfection of these agencies and instrumentalities, there occurs a failure it may properly be said to be unavoidable, all other conditions of promptness in its rectification being present."

(Please attach additional sheets if additional space is needed.)
